The abstraction from #1 may also be occasionally tweaked, but must follow the same rule - do not break the build. Flip the software 'off' switch to 'on' for the rest of the team, and commit/push that. Remove the to-be-replaced implementation; Remove the abstraction; Hopefully, your team uses an IDE that can perform complex refactorings on sets on checkouts, in a way that running the ...

The term came to be a metaphor for death [2 Timothy 4:6].“ Paul knows that in the case of his death, he would be “with Christ” (verse 23) in the next second of his consciousness—as a resurrected immortal spirit being in the Family of God, at the time of his resurrection from the dead (1 Thessalonians 4:14-17; 1 Corinthians 15:35, 42 ...

Paul's Letter to the Philippians — How to Understand It

Paul spoke of this baptism as being “buried” with Christ. This was a metaphor for God seeing us as having died with Christ and identified in his death. 4 We have been united to Christ in his death and also have been united with him in his resurrection. As Christ will never die again, we will never die. In terms of living the Christian life ...
